The Challenge:

Reimbursement documentation requires:

- A high volume of documents
- A high level of accuracy
- high level of specificity in type of documentation
- Active responsiveness to agency rule changes & RFIs

The Solution:

Reimbursement management ensures that your funding comes to you as smoothly as possible, keeping your cashflow on target & allowing you to focus on your business.
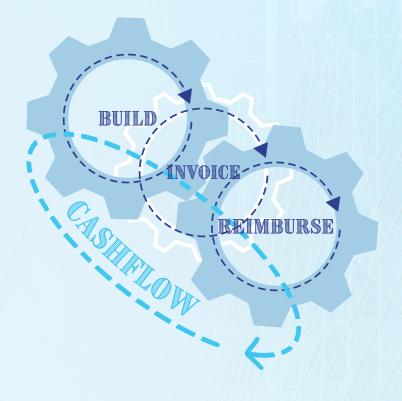

What Are the Risks?

If the requisite paperwork is not submitted promptly and without error you risk:

- Costly delays
- Clawback of funds

It may also damage your reputation, making it more difficult to obtain future awards.

Prevent interruptions to your project's cashflow with Widelity's experienced reimbursement management.

REIMBURSE

A WRENCH IN THE WORKS.

Even minor technical errors in can throw off the cycle of work and reimbursment, running the risk of unneccesary and costly delays.

Why Post-Award Support?

The specialized and demanding nature of grant compliance paperwork is an undue burden on existing administrative staff.

Delays in payment can negatively impact cashflow and the overall success of the project.

We're Experienced

Widelity has nearly a decade of experience in reimbursement programs, performing work for clients in the Broadband Repack Program, the Supply Chain Rip & Replace Program, and the Innovation Fund. We have:

- Highly developed processes
- A stellar reputation for integrity in our work
- A dedicated team of 50+ staff with specialized training

Just ask our clients who are on track for over $2.5B in reimbursements, with over 150k documents processed and 7k RFIs managed.

We're Detail-Oriented

The dual demands of state and federal requirements make BEAD an inherently complex program. With our trained eye on the exacting standard that agencies require, we lower the risk of missed communications, lost information, improper filing, or any of the many details that can cause an invoice to be rejected or returned for more information.

We're Dedicated

We make it our business to let you get back to your business. Instead of overburdening your in-house administrators with extra work, you will have a dedicated team of qualified, engaged, and experienced consultants on hand to ensure that the process goes smoothly.

THE SUPPORT YOU NEED FOR THE RESULTS YOU WANT.

Take Action Now

Be Ready

Include post-award support in your budget. BEAD is a one-and done program, & you will be required to account for every project expense when you submit your application. Factor in post-award as part of your anticipated expenses to minimize out-of-pocket costs.

Reach Out

With years spent studying BEAD and its many permutations across the states, our experts are ready and able to help you strategize on the path ahead, minimizing risk and complications for your project.

The Widelity Advantage

We have an extensive and prestigious record working with both governing agencies and telecom entities. With over 10,000 hours of BEAD-specific R&D and a dedicated team of researchers, project managers, subject matter experts, compliance experts, and professional grant writers, Widelity will position you for success.
